Trautmann of East St. Louis Challenges the Cook County Delegation to Oppose at Their Peril Measures in Which the Country Districts Are Solely Interested-Fight Grows Out of Chicago Members' Opposition to Measure to Change Basis of Assessment From One-F ifth of Market Value of Pro perty.

ILLINOIS LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.

The House refused to concur in the committee's unfavorable report on the bill inreasing the basis of assessment, a measure in the interest of Southern Illinois particularly. A measure which would put manslaughter in the list of "infamous" crimes was burfed The Legislature was petitioned to enact a law which will prevent an inconsiderate neighbor from maintaining pig sties or depositing dead animals within a reasonable distance of another man's abode,

The civil-service bill will come up to-day. Judge Sherman still asserts that he will oppose any amendments which will weaken or materially change it.

The House passed the bill allowing cities under 10,000 in population to order local improvements without the authority of a petition from property owners. More bills were introduced in the Senate, bringing the total above last session's

Springfield, Ill., March 17.-Trautmann. member from East St. Louis, challenged the Cook County delegation this morning to oppose at their peril measures in which the country districts solely are interested. His words were to the effect that If the Chicago members want fight they will get it, and

This stand resulted from the determined opposition by the Chicago members to Repesentative Bundy's bill changing the basis of assessment from one-fifth to one-third the market value of property. The change is much needed in the southern part of the State, and in all sections where values are low. In Chicago, because of the enormous property interests, the one-fifth taxation gives revenue sufficient. Hence the question is a very knotty one. The bill was reported from the Revenue Committee with the recommendation that it do not pass. This committee is dominated by Chicago. Hence the supporters of the measure made their fight on the floor, Bundy spoke at length in defense of the change, citing the conditions and stating that many of the Southern Illinois counties were unable properly to support county institutions

Finally, the argument led to the impassioned declaration in favor of an injured man or men using extreme methods when roused by the blackest of insults. At this stage, the House was in no temper for such legislation, and it required abouty thirty seconds to bury the bill.

PIG-PEN PETITION.

The unsavory nature of a certain pig-sty and the unthinking manner in which a farmer disposed of a dead cow figure in a unique and redolent petition that was brought before the Assembly this morning. It comes from the hills of Henderson County, where few people abide, but where are enough to cause neighborly friction. The aggrieved person is Mrs. Martha Summers, in a letter to Judge Sherman she explained that she did not know what to do about her troubles, that she had seen his pictures in the papers and thought that he might do something for her. She had learned that Henderson County had no representative, and she knew of Senator O. F. Berry. But the latter, she declared, is a good friend of Mr. Nelson, and that she feared he would be prejudiced, Accordingly, in Sherman she saw her only recourse. PIG-PEN PETITION.

She inclosed the petition addressed to the "Members of the Honorable Legislature," and Judge Sherman introduced this document this recording "My grievance is this," she writes, "Our

AN ABSOLUTE NECESSITY.

So Thinks at Least One Traveling Man

I would as soon think of starting out without my mileage books and grip as to start out on a trip without a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in my valise, said a traveling man who represents a St. Louis hardware house. Why? Because I have to put up at all kinds of hotels and boardinghouses. I have to eat good, bad and indirferent food at all hours of the day and night, and I don't believe any man's stomach will stand that sort of thing without protest. Anyway, I know mine won't. It has to have something to hreak the fall and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the crutch I fall back on.

My friends often "josh" me about it, tell me I'm an easy mark for patent medicine fakers, that advertised medicines are humbugs, etc.; but I nouce that they are nearly always complaining of their aches and pains and poor digestion, while I can stand most any old kind of fare and feel good and rendy for work when it needs me, and I believe I owe my good digestion and sound health to the daily, regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, year in and year out, and all the "joshing" in the world will never convince me to the contrary.

I used to have heartburn about three times a day and a headache about three or four times a week and after standing for this for four or five years I began to look around for a crutch and found It when my doctor told me the best investment I could make would be a fifty-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I have invested about fifty cents a month for them ever since, and when I stop to think that hat is what I spend every day for cigars, I feel like shaking hands with myseif, for I can keep my stomach and digestion in first-class order for fifty cent a month. I don't care for any better life insurance.

My druggest tells me they are the most popular of all stomach mericines and that they have maintained their nopularity and success because they do as advertised. They bring results, and results are what count in a patent medicine as much as in selling barb wire.

nearest neighbor feeds a great many cattle and hogs, and his feed bunk and range lot is so near our house that sometimes we have to let down every window and close every door, and sprinkle a handful of ground coffee on a red-hot stove to fill the house with smoke to neutralize the odor long enough for us to eat a meal of victuals."

Mrs. Summers then says that her neighbor, who is a Mr. Elmer Nelson, has three farms, with a total of something like 500 acres, whereas she has but eighty acres. "Yet I have some rights," she states. "I feel, and say it honestly, that I fear the life of my family is endangered by the proximity of this rich man's feed lots."

The remainder is in the nature of a postscrip. Mrs. Summers missed the mail, so the second grievance is added under the date March 3. It is the later and more complete report from the scene of the effluvium, "Mr. Nelson had the misfortune to get a cow hurt," she relates. "He had to kill her, and he dropped her just outside the line fence of his nearest neighbor, and she lay there all last summer. The neighbor put his field in corn, and such a time as the men had working in this field!

"In other respects Mr. Nelson is a very good neighbor. But I fear I could do nothing by asking of him a favor. For me, a poor woman, even to suggest the removal of his feed lots would simply provoke a smile of derision.

Springfield, Ill., March 17.—Augustus W. Nohe again "performed" to-day, this time in the House Revenue Committee, of which he is not a member, though this fact was not discovered until he had dominated most of the business transacted. Not the least of the business was the favorable reference to the House of Nohe's bill requiring telegraph companies to list their poles and wires and give the original cost of these in their tax schedules.

This is the second bolt from Nohe aimed at the telegraph interests and the second to reach the floor of the House. He declares that telegraph property is not assessed high that telegraph property is not assessed high enough.

Mr. Pullen's bill affecting the taxation of the Illinois Central Railroad's property also was ordered reported out favorably from this committee. It provides that counties having untaxed Illinois Central Railroad lands shall receive from the amount of revenue paid by the railroad the amount these lands would yield the counties in which they are situated if assessed.

The House Appropriations Committee again thrashed over the guestion of itemizing appropriation bills. No final conclusion was reached, although three hours of the afternoon session was given to the point. It was moved and ordered that a subcommittee be appointed which shall draft a model bill. This shall show the extent of timization desired by the committee and serve as a guide in the future.

No committee meetings were held in the Senate, A majority of the Senators were the guests of Senator Walter, on a trip to Alion to visit the glass works at that place.
